

only take their money to trade upon are not apt to go away with the most pleasant recollections of transactions in whaler's shops.

The New Bedford Standard says the sum of $125,000 has been paid to the heirs of Capt. Lucas, of South Dartmouth, being the first installment of a debt due from a company in New York.
The agreed to pay $25,000 for the privilege of working a guano bank discovered by the late Captain, in the Pacific, some twenty years ago.

That course is the "American Guano Company," the Jarvis land proprietors, who have been operating not quite a year.
Well said it encouraging. What about the other Guano Company? The Kalamo or Johnson Island affair is in a political category, with no prospect of a speedy solution. The "French Private Reef," to the northwest of us, has just been found to contain large deposits of guano. From the Clipperton Island, whither the French ship Aimé went some two months ago to take possession, we have not heard a word. From the schooners Sun-dog and E. F. Frost, and the sloop Splendid, Jr., all said to have started from Honolulu in different directions, seeking for guano banks, no reports have yet arrived. And it is only a few days ago that we were informed that the Kermadec [?] of Hawaii had been sold and was said to be fitting for another sorter expedition.

The San Francisco Journals are lavish in encomiums upon the vine culture of their State, and with very good reason. Here is what one of them, the Pacific Current, says:

The Grapes of California are successful cultivators of the grape for wine manufacture into vines and brandy, is no new thing in our midst. The number of vines in cultivation throughout the State in 1860, was 1,240,194; in 1857, 2,265,095; and in 1858, 3,044,041. Of the total crop, 1,740,000 are exported to the vineyard of the State. The vintage of 1857 amounted to nearly four hundred thousand gallons, wine and brandy included. The value of the entire crop was estimated at seven millions and fifty thousand dollars. The average yield of each vine is a fourteen pound, the amount necessary to produce a gallon of wine. The value of the entire crop of vines, when matured, would produce nearly eight millions of dollars per annum.

CANVASEY—Fancy an old bank director, East India mer-cant, or holder of Mississippi bonds showing his spectacles and inches and a half above his nose, uncertain whether to re-suit this "quotation" as an imperfection or laugh at it as a "reformer of Stock" into a wrong column. We are earnest, however. Crinoline and Commerce may be very friendly together, but crinoline itself may not be likely to be on the top of terms for the following reasons: First, the fashion is impossible, and a poor man's wife or daughter must procure those articles as well as their betters, or they are nobodies and can show themselves nowhere amongst decent people. Second, their use involves the expense of two or three extra breadths in the virtue of a garment—not always an inconsiderable item when the needs of the purchaser are taken into account. Third, they necessitate the building or leasing of bigger houses, wider doors, larger furniture and pier-glasses, a box at the theatre and a pew in the church, where smaller furniture and a single seat were sufficient before. Fourth, they have destroyed the poetic sentiment of youth: "love in a cottage" being out of the question.
Fifth, inflation is the bane of commerce, and a merchant who has endeavored manfully and honestly against the temptations and seductions that follow in its wake, at his office and in the street, is apt to surrender when the tempter meets him on his own threshold, and affectionately covers the unmurmured "et tu bruto" with a kiss or a slap over the mouth.

We have thus taken a purely commercial view of the subject, believing the ladies of Europe to have no preference to some ultimate economy, can ever long remain affordable to the purchaser.

The Independence Bell states that a lady in Hanover had been sentenced by a Court in that town to pay the fine of two shillings "for having worn a dress which, occupying the whole breadth of the pavement, is an obstruction to the public way."
That town has a sensible Judge.

The San Francisco quotations by this mail are very meager so far as affects us. Java coffee was sold at 18c @ 20c, and Rio de Janeiro, New Orleans sugar at 9½¢, China No. 1 at $1.90. Macacker, half-hib, $6.30 @ $6.

- I. The said District of Kona, for the purposes of said Act, is separated into three subdivisions:
 1. The first subdivision is bounded on the makai side by the sea, on the Ewa side by the Nuuanu Valley stream, running up said stream to the Bridge at the Reservoir (Wai-aiula), thence makai along the Nuuanu Valley road to School street, thence along School street to the base of Punch Bowl Hill, thence along Punch Bowl street to the sea.
 2. The second subdivision includes all that part of the District South and East of the above described line from the Bridge in Nuuanu to the sea.
 3. The third subdivision includes all that part of the District on the Ewa side of the Nuuanu Valley stream, together with the whole of Nuuanu Valley.
- II. William Webster, Esq., is charged with the assessment of the taxes imposed by said Act in the entire District of Kona. In making the same he is authorised to consult the returns of the Collector of said District for 1858, and to obtain in a summary manner, all other information necessary for a just and speedy assessment. He will return his assessment books to this Department in the order of their completion, so that the collection may proceed without unnecessary delay. Such collection, in each subdivision, will be commenced immediately after the return of the assessment book therefor.
- III. The following persons are appointed Collectors of such special tax, to wit:

Joseph O. Carter for the first subdivision, William Webster for the second subdivision, and Henry A. Kahanu for the third subdivision. They are respectively required to give bond, in conformity with the general law in relation to Collectors of taxes, before entering upon their duties.
- IV. All tax payers in the aforesaid District of Kona, when called on, or notified by the proper Collector, as hereinafter provided, are required to make payment of their taxes on or before the 31st day of March next, after which date the Collector is authorized to sue for and recover such taxes as may be in arrear, in pursuance of the 11th section of the Act of June 4, 1855.
- V. The said Collectors are severally authorized to demand payment of the aforesaid special tax by notice, as provided in section 10th of the Act of June 4, 1855, or by general advertisement, requiring the tax payers to meet them at convenient points of their respective subdivisions; and a failure to comply with such notice, or the requirements of such advertisement, will be deemed a sufficient cause to subject any tax payer to the penalties imposed by existing laws for non-payment of taxes.
- VI. The said Collectors will, in case they find in their respective subdivisions, any taxable inhabitants, not included in the assessment list, ascertain the liability of such person under the aforesaid Act, and require of them the payment of their proper taxes, rendering to this Department a full account, in detail, of the same.
- VII. In view of the object of the aforesaid special tax, the said Collectors are respectively required to pay into the treasury, from time to time, the proceeds of their collections, in accordance with the special directions of this Department.
- VIII. It shall be the duty of said Collectors, respectively, to make to this Department a final return of taxes collected by them, and a full settlement of their accounts, on or before the first day of May next.
